The exam automated feedback says 14 good questions and 2 fair questions, none are seen as 'hard' (however I don't subscribe to that particular measure). Exam marks % range 40-95 positive skew and bell at about 80% so actually these should be good this year. Some of this maybe due to the revision session which looked these questions in much more detail. Most students answered all questions well and the Creativity questions where answered much better this year than others so the coursework seems to have performed as expected. The exam questions may have been a little too easy so I'll need to update this next year.
