The two issues that are currently affecting course unit selection are as follows:

- When searching for a specific Course Subject area AND Course Number, the Course Career must also be specified:

  ![Course Unit Selection Screenshot]

  Ensure all three fields have criteria

  If the Course Career is omitted from the search the following (misleading) message will appear*.

  ![Message Screenshot]

  *If this message still appears when all (or at least, Course Subject and Course Career) is specified, then this message is correct. In that case please e-mail sso@cs.man.ac.uk.

- If a search is performed without specifying a Course Number:

  The following message will appear before any courses are returned:

  Add Classes

  Enter Search Criteria

  Search for Classes

  The University of Manchester | 2013/14 Academic Year

  Select at least 2 search criteria. Click Search to view your search results.

  Class Search

  - Course Subject: American Studies
  - Course Number: is exactly
  - Course Career: Postgraduate Taught

  Additional Search Criteria

  Return to Add Classes

  The following message will appear before any courses are returned:

  Add Classes

  ![Image: A message asking if the search will return over 50 classes, with 'OK' and 'Cancel' buttons]

  Your search will return over 50 classes, would you like to continue?

  Again, this message is misleading. Click OK, and then the appropriate courses will appear.
